me: sup g
me: how goes the Goldstein stuff?
Patrick: No idea. Not reading his site.
Patrick: I assume he is still not obsessed with me, meaning he is writing about 3 posts a day about me
Patrick: His lies about me are still in the first page of my Google results, and people still write me to tell me about the blatant lies he tells about me on his site
Patrick: So, you know, typical stuff
Patrick: Why?
Patrick: ? me: Nothing, just saw you were on gchat so thought I'd say hello to my favorite Republican prosecutor me: Also, what are your thoughts on the Libya situation?
Patrick: Dunno. Too busy at work to know much about it Patrick: Plus I spent a lot of time trying to figure out what to do about Goldstein contacting my office
me: Well me: Maybe you could wrestle him?
me: Could be worse, you could be facing arrest like I am Patrick: Is there new news on that front?
Patrick: When they give you the third degree always remember to tell them I said you shouldn't do this stuff me: Well, sort of me: Mostly rumors
me: It's a complicated thing, lots of parties involved
Patrick: Yup
Patrick: Just remember: Patterico tried to tell me hacking is wrong me: Everyone knows you're the true leader of Anonymous and that you guy by the hacker handle Pr0s3cutie Patrick: Heh. That's pretty good
